

Axe & Sledge Farm Fed Salted Caramel: Sweet, Salty, and Packed With Protein

written by Mike Roberto | November 9, 2020

Axe & Sledge Farm Fed is a 100% grass-fed whey protein isolate with a comprehensive digestive enzyme blend known as DigeSEB Plus. Seth Feroce, co-founder of Axe & Sledge, has a very sensitive stomach and couldn't find a protein powder that didn't cause him gastrointestinal distress. So he created his own. That's how Farm Fed was born.

By using a 100% whey protein isolate and adding a digestive enzyme blend, Seth can now enjoy a protein shake without dealing with gastrointestinal discomfort. Furthermore, the digestive enzymes help his body absorb and utilize protein, so he feels more recovered after a hard training session.

Farm Fed: A Protein Powder For The Hardest Workers In the Gym

Annihilate your sweet tooth with Salted Caramel Farm Fed.

Farm Fed contains 22 grams of protein and only 100 calories per serving. It's also gluten-free (except the s'mores flavor), low-fat, non-GMO, antibiotic-free, and naturally flavored and colored. It's a great protein powder to use any time of day, but especially post-workout for fueling recovery.

Back in 2018, Axe & Sledge first released Farm Fed in three traditional flavors: vanilla milkshake, cookies n' cream, and chocolate milkshake. Shortly after, the company released cinnamon apple pie, which was supposed to be a limited-edition flavor. But then it became their best seller, so it was permanently added to Farm Fed's slate of flavors.

Just last year, at the end of October, Axe & Sledge launched s'mores Farm Fed which featured a chocolate-flavored protein powder with graham cracker and marshmallow inclusions. S'mores Farm Fed also had a custom label with a campfire design to really make it stand out.

Salted Caramel Farm Fed is Coming Soon

Sweet, salty, and packed with protein.

It's been more than a year since Axe & Sledge released a new flavor for their protein powder. They just announced that Salted Caramel Farm Fed is on the way. This one is for all the hard-working m'fers out there that enjoy the combination of sweet and salty flavors.

Just imagine a sweet and salty milkshake with 22 grams of protein and only around 100 calories per serving. So far, cinnamon apple pie and cookies n' cream are our top two flavors, but salted caramel could surpass them.
