

Nutrex Outlift Blood Orange Brings in the New Year

written by Mike Roberto | January 1, 2019

New Year, New You, New Flavor!

The clinically-dosed Nutrex Outlift pre workout welcomes 2019 with a Blood Orange flavor!

In early 2018, we visited the Florida headquarters of Nutrex Research, and saw a brand continually re-inventing itself to stay ahead of the curve. On top of being treated to a sneak peak of their upcoming products, we also learned that the company behind the famous Lipo-6 fat burner has a whole lot more happening, especially with their Clinical Edge Series of supplements.

Outlift: Clinically-dosed, Clinically-flavored

Leading the way for this series is none other than Nutrex Outlift, a pre workout supplement we now know as one of the most underrated and quietly-respected pre workouts in the industry.

On top of a clinically-dosed, drug-tested formula (hence the “Clinical Edge” Series), Team Nutrex has been attacking the flavor game in a big way. Clinical-dosing is no longer enough – they want you to crave that workout.

So to start the year off right, Team Nutrex has launched a Blood Orange flavor of Outlift in the 30 serving size!

More info is below, but first, you can check it out in our deals widget below

No nonsense, just straight strength, power, muscle, endurance, and energy gains! Plus, like everything else in the clinical-edge series, you have a drug-test-approved supplement with no WADA-banned substances, tested in every batch by Informed-Choice!

What's the deal with blood orange?

Yes, this is a real fruit! Blood Orange is a far bolder flavor than your standard orange. Right up Nutrex's alley!

Blood Orange is a fun flavor for those looking for a citrus flavor with some extra "oomph" that's been modeled after the fruit (which I say tastes way better than a regular orange). Every brand dose it differently, but typically you have a strong orange with a dash of grapefruit in there.

Some brands may throw in a touch of tropical twist or even very subtle raspberry or black berry tones to keep things fun.

Note that Blackberry Lemonade is a Nutrex go-to flavor – their citrus game is top notch.

Mike's Outlift Blood Orange Review

Only one word is needed for this flavor: professional. Nutrex has their flavor game down at this point. Only question is if you want a big bold citrus flavor or something else:

But which Outlift is for me?

As mentioned in the intro paragraph, we visited Nutrex in Florida and put together some fun content. Max Fairchild helped explain which Outlift is for you in this interview:

Another fun one to watch is our Welcome to Nutrex Research video! This brand is always keeping it real, and we're looking forward to what they bring in 2019, because they're not just the Lipo-6 company anymore!
